

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to an amino acid composition. More specifically, the present invention provides an amino acid composition obtained by hydrolyzing proteinaceous koji containing soybean protein as the main raw material to release at least 65% of amino
5 acids contained in the protein. The present invention further provides a process of producing the amino acid composition.